

KEYNOTE SPEAKER A/Prof Diane Hughes

Research

A/Prof Diane Hughes is a researcher and lecturer in Vocal Studies and Music at Macquarie University, Australia. Her research areas include the singing voice, vocal health for singers, vocal pedagogy, film and sound, recording practices, songwriting, the music industries, and popular music and song. She is co-author of The New Music Industries: Disruption and Discovery (Hughes, Evans, Morrow & Keith, 2016, Palgrave Macmillan) and co-editor of The Singing Voice in Contemporary Cinema (forthcoming Hughes & Evans, 2020, Equinox). She is an advocate for music education and for voice studies in school education.